

ANIMALS' GUIDE TO SUICIDE, VOL. 2

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE: NOVEMBER 30, 2015

Celebrate the release of the second volume in the Animals' Guide to Suicide series, an ongoing adventure illustrated by Atlanta artist and musician, Jenu Castillo. Revisit the lonely and frustrated, yet adorable cat, duck, rabbit, giraffe and gang as they stumble through the holiday season - lonely and depressed as ever, in this graphic novel of the absurd.

We'll be releasing the book at My Parents' Basement in Avondale Estates, Georgia on Wed., December 9th. Also, the brewmasters will tap a special surprise AGTS2 beer in honor of the new book.

"Harvey Pekar, author of American Splendor, once said, "Ordinary life is pretty complex stuff." In Animals' Guide to Suicide by Jenu Castillo, we learn that life is not only complex, but it also inspires the best punch lines. Jenu's work proves that you don't need to be a master draftsman in order to write a story filled with honesty, poetry, tragedy, and, above all else, comedy." - Matthew Laiosa

"Strikingly progressive design elements" - Burnaway.org re: AGTS Vol. 1

Fifth Planet is an independent publisher in support of the art outlets of musicians. Almost all the authors, artists, illustrators, and designers are artists that are musicians, too. Over the years, the press has evolved from poetry, to fiction, literary annuals, a multimedia novel, an e-book, a Georgia reader, an ongoing book arts experiment, and graphic novel series by Jenu Castillo.
